

F/o Robert Anderson,

We, of Chateauguay, take great pleasure and great pride to welcome home, two great heroes of the World War: one whom we have always loved, a boy from our home town, Lieutenant Jean-Paul Bourcier, and the other whom we have learned to love and whom we shall always love as one of ours: Lieutenant Robert Anderson, from Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Bob, we are thankful to you because you have helped Paul to live through this great adventure. You have both been true borthers in arms, and true brothers in adversity, two good pals helping one another to defeat the enemy and later to bear the long days of captivity. Those trying days became weeks, months many long months, but with mutual encouragement, you have overcome the worst and have gloriously contributed toward a great Victory.

We now wish you the best that life can offer to young men of your merit. You have already known glory, may success, love, health and wealth now be yours. And when this has all come your way, Lieutenant Anderson, and you are on your honeymoon, we shall be very happy to welcome you here again, in Chateauguay.

Will you carry with you on your way home the assurance that we have been most happy to meet you and that you shall always be welcome here.

Please convey our message of congratulations to your good father and your good mother, who are awaiting such a fine son, at home.

Bon Voyage, Bob, and Aurevoir.

Yours friends,
